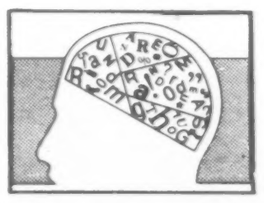
Random Thoughts



By SANFORD ROSE

There is an old adage that lucky men need no counsel and can even survive bad counsel. In the early to mid-'80s commercial bankers received a lot of counsel from investment bankers on capital and acquisition strategy. Much of this advice was bad, but because the commercial bankers got lucky, they ended up prospering from this bad advice. Next time they might not be so fortunate.

The investment bankers introduced their commercial-bank colleagues to the alleged benefits of preferred stock. They said: "Go out and raise preferred and you can lower your cost of capital, thereby raising the discounted value of future cash flows."

That advice seemed to be sound. Since preferred provides a tax shield to institutional investors who can exclude 85% of dividends from taxable income, it can be issued at relatively low rates. Of course, this tax advantage also applies to common stock, but given the undervalued state of bank stocks, the cost of issuing common seemed prohibitive. But banks could perhaps issue preferred at attractive

Prudential Will Market MasterCard To Policyholders Through Mailings

By LYNN BRENNER

NEW YORK — Prudential Insurance Co. said it will begin offering MasterCard credit cards to select life and property/casualty insurance policyholders.

The cards will be offered by Prudential Bank and Trust Co., the insurer's subsidiary based in Atlanta, through a special arrangement with Signet Bank of Richmond, Va. Signet will be responsible for servicing all accounts.

Prudential is the second major life insurer to introduce a credit card this year. A New Hampshire-based subsidiary of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., First Signature Bank & Trust Co., began marketing a Visa card on Jan. 1, primarily by mail and telephone. A John Hancock spokesman said the bank probably will have mailed 2.5 million card application by yearend.

John Hancock, based in Boston, declined to reveal the number of cards it has issued.

First Signature Bank & Trust Co. offers two Visa cards. The gold card may or may not carry an annual fee, depending on amounts charged; the classic card carries a $15 annual fee. Both have variable interest rates.

The Prudential MasterCard also carries a variable interest rate, initially set at 16.44%. An annual fee of $16 will be waived until January 1989, when the fee may be reduced if cardholders have purchased more than $2,500 in 1988. Cardholders will be eligible for lines of credit of up to $10,000.

Prudential, based in Newark, N.J., plans to mail card applications to 500,000 policyholders in 29 states and the District of Columbia.

The cards will be marketed by mail rather than through Prudential's insurance agents, said William Grau, manager of market development at Prudential. "Credit cards are a classic direct-mail product, and we'll go with the

Fed Accedes To State Rules On Subsidiaries

Holding Company Units Can Keep Broad Powers

By BARBARA A. REHM
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Federal Reserve Board has indicated it will not curb insurance and other nonbanking powers given by states to bank subsidiaries of bank holding companies.

In an order permitting two state-chartered bank subsidiaries of a holding company to sell insurance, the Fed explained that nonbank prohibitions outlined in the Bank Holding Company Act do not apply to state bank subsidiaries.

The Fed decision last Thursday appears to set some specific limits on how it will treat state-chartered bank subsidiaries — an issue in several pending cases before the Fed. The decision also helps strengthen the validity of state laws covering state-chartered banks.

The insurance industry plans to sue the Fed over the decision, an attorney representing five major insurance trade groups said Monday.

The Fed, which regulates bank holding companies, ruled last Thursday that Merchants National Corp. in Indianapolis could let two state bank subsidiaries, Anderson Banking Co., Anderson, Ind., and Mid State Bank of Hendricks County, Danville, Ind., resume certain insurance agency activities authorized for state banks under Indiana law.

Merchants National acquired both banks in October 1986 and suspended their insurance sales while the Fed decided whether they should be allowed.

The Fed's decision reflects the central bank's belief that the nonbanking prohibitions in Section 4 of the Bank Holding Company Act do not apply to bank subsidiaries of holding companies, say Fed observers.
